Bonnie's Book Talk, 5 stars She lies so still. A tatty yellow dress, chipped green nail varnish, long eyelashes on pale skin. She should be at a sleepover, not lying in the dirt, her last breath already taken... When the body of teenager, Chantal Price, is found hidden inside a grave, crushed under the weight of a coffin in a small-town cemetery in The Lake District, an urgent call is made to Forensic Pathologist Beth Adams. In hiding since an attempt on her own life, all Beth's instincts tell her that it's a trap, that she should run for safety. But one look at the beautiful girl's broken body confirms she's the only one with the expertise to crack this disturbing case. As threatening gifts start arriving at her home, Beth is faced with the reality that Chantal's killer knows about her past and wants her attention. She has no choice but to throw herself into her work, trawling through the evidence until she finds tiny traces of material beneath the victim's fingernails that set the team on the right path. But this critical lead comes at a dangerous price, exposing Beth's whereabouts and dragging her back into the line of fire once again. With Beth's own life on the line, the investigation is already cracking under the pressure. But this time Beth won't run – she owes it to Chantal. Then another local girl goes missing...
